Doorways to Opportunity

East High Quill

Published by Senior English Students of East High School
Des Moines, Iowa

June, 1945

OPEN DOORS of OPPORTUNITY

Open doors of opportunity leading to success in future life form the basis for each East High student's future vocation. The wide field of subjects enables each student to choose studies which will benefit him most in establishing his career. A well-planned schedule through the high school years will form a substantial foundation for further advancement. For careers in science and medicine, the student will find biology, physics, chemistry, Latin, and higher mathematics basic. Careers in law would be based upon Latin, mathematics, English, and speech. Careers in literature and art would find English, journalism, mechanical drawing and art primal.

CITIZENSHIP and LEADERSHIP

Both class and extra-curricular activities fit us for service in the fields of citizenship and leadership.

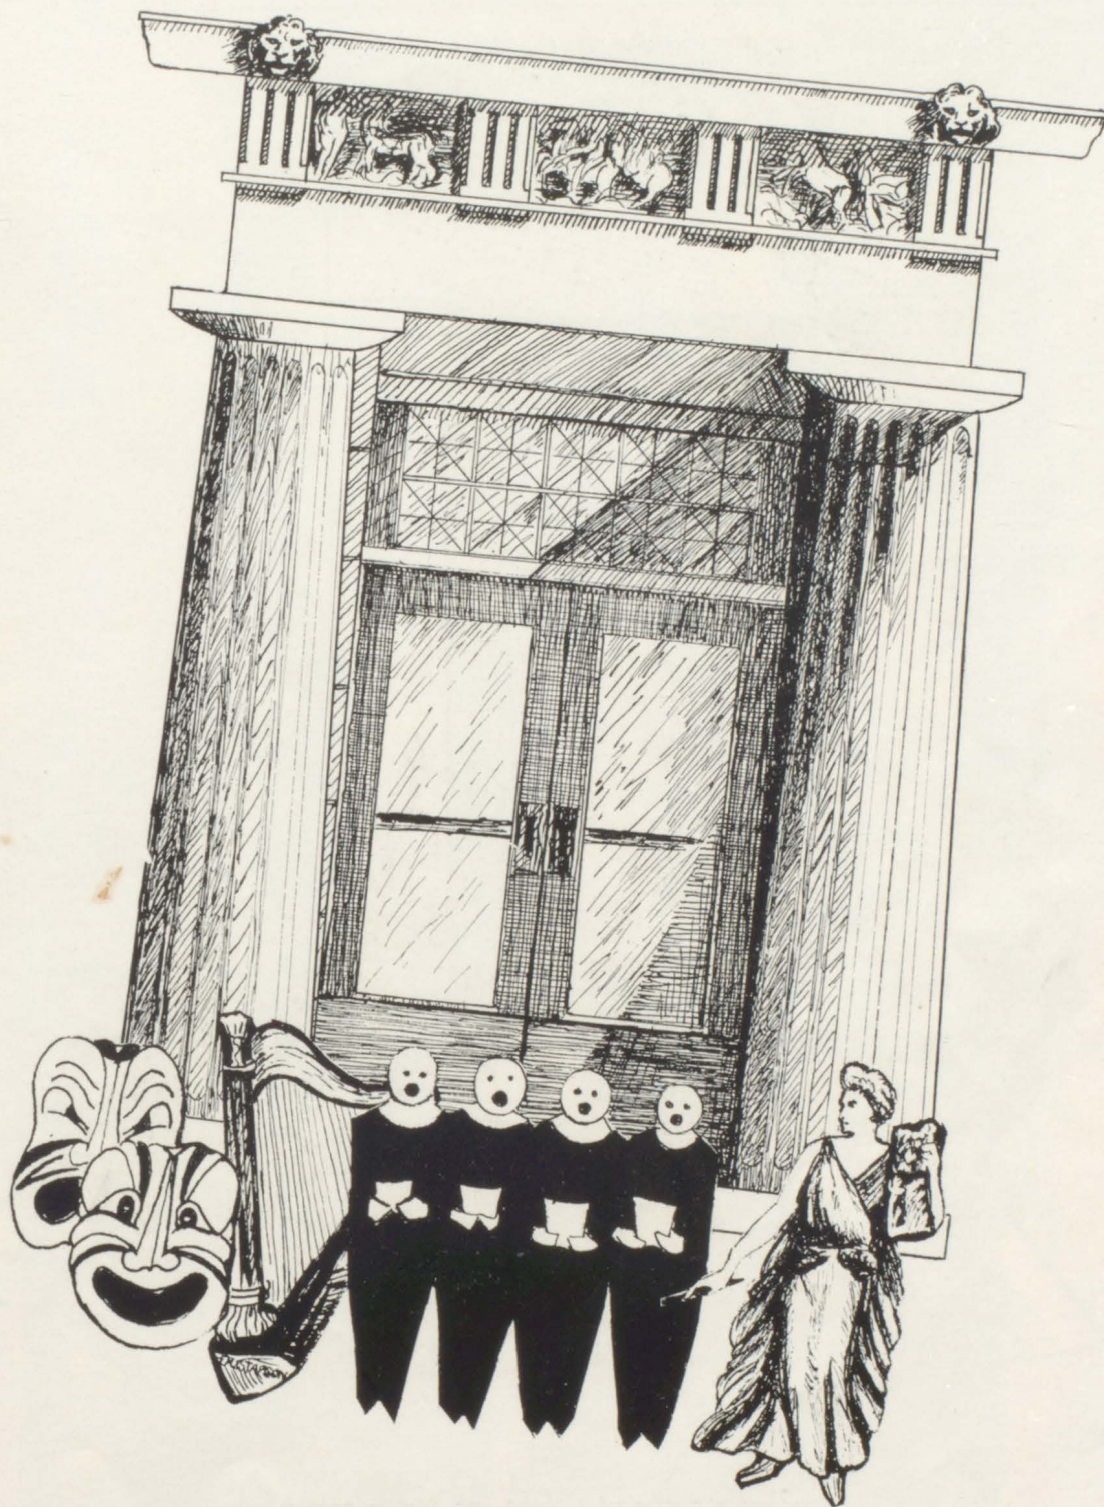

History provides a background of appreciation of the meaning of our government and seeks to train youth for the privileges and responsibilities of citizenship.

In the various clubs of the school, in committees, and especially in the student council qualities of leadership are discovered and developed. The Student Council also develops democratic citizenship through actual experience.

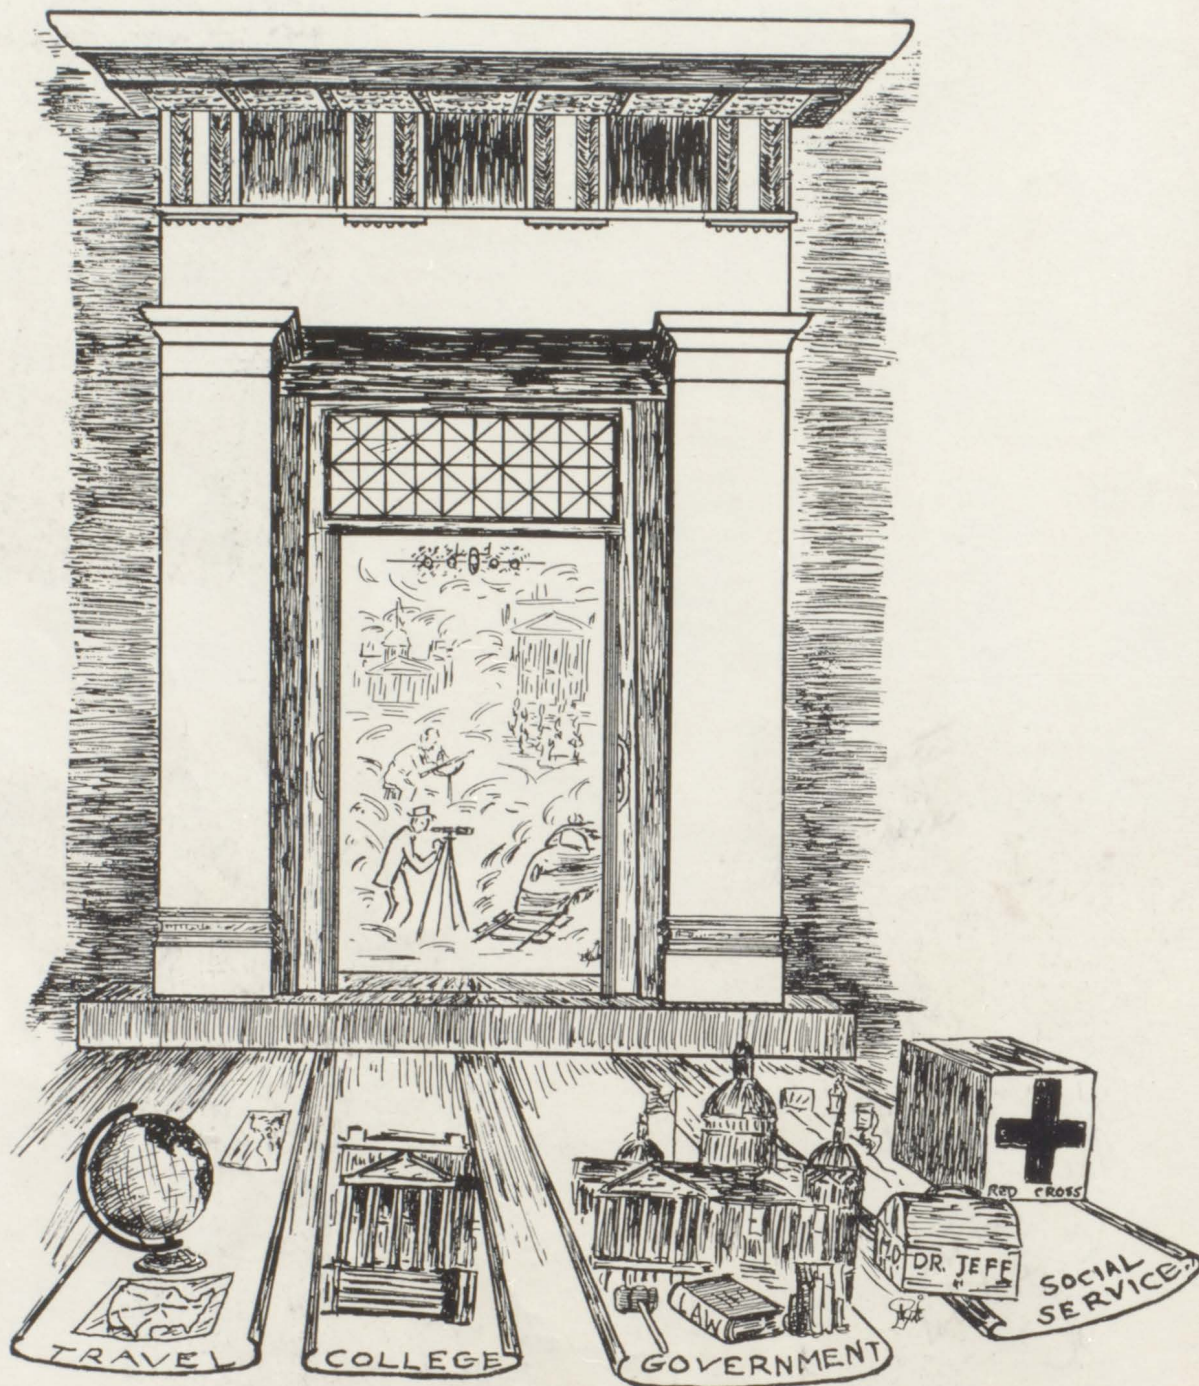

HOME and FAMILY

It is easy to see how such courses as typing, shorthand, commercial law, and bookkeeping directly prepare one for a vocation. Girls' home-making classes, economics—even boys' woodshop—are training places for some of the duties of homemaking.

LEISURE TIME and SOCIAL WORK

Membership in one of the various club organizations which meet Wednesdays after school in different class rooms is beneficial in creating social friendships and sharing like interests. The Leezur Hours held in the large gym frequently give the students a chance for recreation in dancing to their favorite juke-box tunes. East High students have responded unselfishly, answering the call to assist in various drives undertaken by the school. Among these are Clothing, Paper, and War Stamp Drives. Those who willingly contribute their services gain satisfaction in participation for these worthy causes.

SERVICE and INDUSTRY

It is natural for East High students to feel proud when they look at our service flag and realize that East High has had a part in preparing these boys and girls for serving their country. We must remember, too, that those who cannot fight can serve in our "arsenals of democracy," a job for which East High shop courses help prepare them. It will be wise for students to look ahead of these wartime jobs, however, and chart studies for their future in the post-war world.

OUR FACULTY

Having recalled to our minds some of the opportunities for service which will be ours after leaving East High, we take this opportunity to thank those who have helped make them within our reach.

We think first of Mr. O. G. Prichard, principal of East High School, whose task it is to keep the complex program of school life running smoothly and efficiently. For his fine service in this capacity, not to mention the many outstanding assemblies he has given us, we extend our thanks.

If as the foregoing pages have sought to prove, our history, English, mathematics, foreign languages, our journalism, public-speaking, and dramatics classes help open the door of vocational and civic opportunity to us, who deserves more credit than the splendid faculty who teach these subjects? In gratitude to them, we pledge ourselves "for the service of humanity."

To the rest of the faculty, to our nurse, registrar, librarian, and office secretary, goes credit for their fine work in helping us through high school.

Student Council

With Miss Agnes Helmreich as advisor, the student council acts as the democratic governing body of the school. Every semester each home room selects a representative and one alternate to take part in student council meetings. With each representative keeping his own home room informed of all school functions and drives, interest, initiative, and knowledge of the democratic way of government is kept active in the student body.

This semester the council was sub-divided into many various committees of six or seven members, each group working in cooperation with the others.

This enables the entire group to act more quickly and smoothly as a whole.

Some of the duties of every council member are to promote the sale of war bonds and stamps, accelerate Scroll subscriptions, see that no names are omitted from the Servicemen's Roll of Honor, organize school parties, and conduct various other activities.

Heading this semester's list of busy student councilors are the following officers: President, Marshall Carlson; Vice-President, Elwood Enga; Secretary, Jean Parker.

Quill Staff

The magnificent (?) book which you now hold is the product of the labors of the dozen-or-so members of the Quill staff, and certain members of the Art and Commercial departments. The people of the regular staff, which meets in room 218 during fourth hour, have relinquished their study periods to work on the Quill three days a week.

On the regular staff, the members of the Senior department are Dorothy Thomas, Dorothy Filliman, and Mary Hadden. These people have been occupied with matters concerning the graduating class, and have had the tedious but interesting tasks of classifying seniors' information blanks, selecting quotations, and designing picture-pages. The editors, James Arpy and Patricia Motter, besides being over-all supervisors, did much work in this department.

The Organizations department, which deals primarily with clubs and service organizations, is composed of Doris Tokheim, Philis McCollough, and Stanley Stevens. Their time was devoted to designing pages, supervising picture-taking, and writing the copy for the various groups. Dick Stanwood and Daniel Ellis managed the Sports section. Their work, while very similar to that of the Organizations department, dealt with athletic groups.

Collaborating with art and salesmanship classes in working on the introductory and advertising sections were Marilyn Woods, Carl Nelson, and Bill Frye. They busied themselves in designing, writing copy, and selecting snapshots and jokes for the advertising section.

And what could we have done without the typists, Darlene Haws and Martha Sloan! Incidentally, Mr. Kenneth Stratton, the sponsor, was often very helpful.

Scroll

"Sees all, knows all, and tells all" could be a fitting motto for the Scroll. Complete and up-to-the-minute accounts of school life never fail to be recorded in every issue of our paper.

Most of us fail to realize the amount of hard work it takes to prepare each edition. The page editors must first plan and lay out each page. Then the articles and pictures to be included, and the space they will occupy are determined. When this is done, the articles are assigned to the staff reporters to be written. The next job is handled by the copy readers who make any necessary corrections. Now at last the articles are typed and sent to the printer.

The editor-in-chief, Carolyn Abbott, supervises and aids managing editor, Ganna Greider, and news editors, Beverly Nickelsen, Dorothy Harris, Pat Motter, and Illa Davidson. The editorial page is planned and edited by Maxine Lewis. De Wayne Aspengren has charge of the sports page.

The capable faculty advisors have done a great deal toward the success of the paper. Mr. Kenneth Stratton is the editorial advisor, Mr. Leslie Olsen handles the financial matters, and Miss Harriet Macy supervises the art work.

Band

The Concert Band, under the direction of Mr. John McWhirter, has had a full schedule from September to June. Besides playing for assemblies here at East High, the band has given programs at several junior high schools. They have also played for public forums.

Although the band is much smaller than usual, having only 52 members, Mr. McWhirter believes the instrumentation is very good.

The highlight of the semester's work will be the band's performance in the Music Festival. Special soloists and small groups will play also.

The sparkling new tubas which add so much to the appearance of the band are not really new. They have been completely overhauled, thus making them look like new.

Orchestra

One of the organizations which help to make East High an all around school is the orchestra. This semester there are only 32 students enrolled, but the quality of the music they produce remains up to their standards.

The orchestra gives excellent opportunities to students who love music and play string instruments. A string ensemble composed of 12 violins, 2 string basses, and piano has been organized this semester. Their repertoire will be played from memory. They will play for the Music Festival.

Under the direction of Mr. John McWhirter, the orchestra has provided some fine music for all the various programs in which they appeared.

A Cappella Choir

Perfection is the goal towards which every member of our A Cappella Choir is striving. The choir is made up of the more advanced music students in school, many of whom are selected from the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs.

The students of East High can be really proud of our choir. They have done exceptionally fine work during the past year in all of the many programs in which they appeared. Besides singing for assemblies here at East, the choir sings in many outside programs, too. This semester they have sung at the East Des Moines Club, North High School and at the Paramount Theater.

To much credit cannot be given to the director, Miss Sigrid Greenhill. She has spent many hours practicing with the group, but her efforts have been well rewarded. Miss Greenhill believes the success of the choir this year has been due to the splendid musicianship and cooperation on the part of all the members.

One of the outstanding programs the choir took part in was the Music Festival which was presented by both the instrumental and vocal departments of music. Small groups and soloists were selected from the choir to appear in this program also.

Boys' Glee Club

One of the more advanced musical groups is the Boys' Glee Club under the direction of Miss Sigrid Greenhill. It provides excellent opportunities for fellows who are interested in music. There are only fifteen boys enrolled this semester, a number much smaller than usual, but the voices of the fifteen blend together in perfect harmony.

The group sang in the annual Music Festival presented in May by both the vocal and instrumental departments of music.

Girls' Glee Club

The Girls' Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Sigrid Greenhill, is made up of girls who have been selected from Chorus One and Chorus Two. They are girls who are all interested in music and who love to sing. Many hope to be chosen to sing in the choir next year.

This semester the group has been working on a large variety of songs ranging from old classics to modern numbers. Betty Allen has assisted at the piano.

Senior Boys' Quartette

The boys of this quartet meet with Miss Greenhill every Tuesday and Thursday morning to polish old songs and learn new ones. The group sang popular songs in most of the outside programs they appeared in, but they are also working on classicals for the senior activities.

The highlight of the semester for the quartet was their appearance over the radio in the program, Careers in the Making. They have also sung at the Policemen's Ball, for P.T.A. and for many church groups.

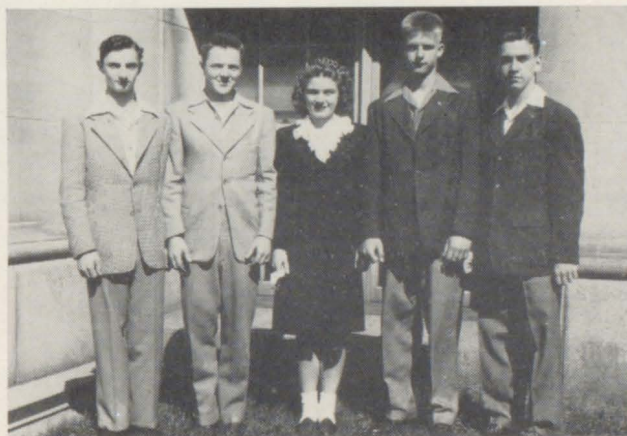

Harlan Benshoof, Wendell Southard, Doris Tokheim, Frank Hartle, Bill Metcalfe.

Junior Boys' Quartet

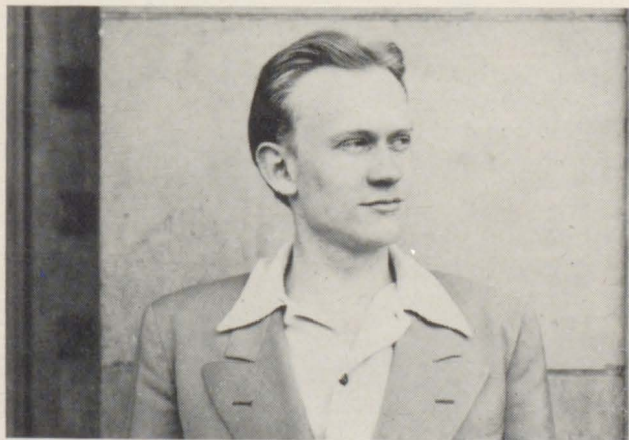

This quartet was organized this semester by Miss Greenhill to help fill the many requests for boys' quartets to appear in programs. The voices of the four blend together perfectly so they are able to produce some excellent harmony.

The group has a collection of spirituals which they have sung in programs at various churches and for P.T.A.

Mary Ann Hansen has assisted them at the piano. These boys and their accompanist will all be back next semester to continue their fine work.

David Ward, Harlan Snow, Mary Ann Hansen, Marty Carlson, Eddie Norem.

Assistant Band Director

East High is fortunate this semester to have Mr. Jim Selland as assistant director of band and orchestra. Jim is a senior student at Drake University where he is majoring in music. He comes to East every afternoon for his practice teaching work. Since he has been a professional trumpet player for several years, he was able to give some very valuable advice to our trumpet players.

MR. CHARLES SPRINGATE

Advisor

Each year members of the Quill advertising staff test their ability to sell by putting their knowledge of selling methods to practice use.

Mr. Springate's salesmanship classes learn the best ways to approach prospective customers, to bring out advantages of the product to be sold, and to transact sales.

Then the more ambitious students who desire to give their selling ability a trial, contact business and professional people of the city and sell them advertising space by convincing them of its desirability.

Since the Quill is published once each semester, it has a wide circulation among students and alumni, which puts advertising copy in the grasp of a wide-spread public.

Competition among students selling ads is keen. Whoever brings in the greatest amount of copy space within a given time is given added incentive in his sales work by being rewarded with one-fourth or one-half page of copy to his credit. Students who sell $25 or more in copy become members of the $25 club; those who sell $75 or more are added to the list of "Quills' Men." These honor lists may be seen in Mr. Springate's class room.

Each salesman is given credit in the annual by having his name printed under each ad he sold during the semester. The winner of the selling contest has, as a reward for his efforts, a full-length picture of himself featuring Younker's clothing ad, included in the Quill.

Little Women

The dramatics department of East High presented the annual all-school play April 13 and 14 at 8:00 p.m. in the auditorium. It was based on the popular favorite, "Little Women," by Louisa Mae Alcott and was arranged by Marian De Forest.

This four act comedy covered a period of five years in the lives of its characters. The cast did a grand job of acting out the joys, sorrows, and every-day events in the March family and their social circle.

Portraying the "Little Women" were Shirley Chinn as impetuous tomboyish Jo; Marilyn McLaughlin as the elder sister Meg; Virginia Norris as the sweet pathetic Beth; Bernardine Haltom as the younger sister Amy.

Supporting players were as follows: King Wisdom, Mr. March; Norma Mackin, Aunt March; Stanley McClintock, Mr. Laurence; Jack Peters, Laurie; Charles Montgomery, Professor Bhaer; John Mitchell, John Brooke; and Judy Green as Hannah Mullett.

This semester's play marked the first time in ten years at East High in which the actors wore period costumes. These costumes, copied from styles at the time in which the story took place, were rented from costume companies in the city with much alteration work done by the wardrobe girls under the supervision of the teachers of the home-making department.

The production was under the direction of Mrs. Juniata Laser, dramatics coach; assisted by Miss Harriet Macy, art teacher; Mr. A. G. Hostetter, industrial arts instructor, and his crew of student stage hands; and Mr. Wilbur Yount, biology instructor, and his electricians.

Special Interest Club

East High's Special Interest club, sponsored by Mr. W. L. Yount, is the largest and most popular mixed club in the entire school. This semester's roster boasts almost 180 names, the largest membership in the club's history. This necessitates our omitting names of club members from this issue of the Quill.

Elected as officers were Beth Heggen, Don Astley, Jack Rhoads, and Mildred Hines.

The club follows no definite program for meetings but takes up topics of general interest following the current wishes of the members.

Among the club activities were a field trip to Still College, annual breakfast, a chalk talk by a commercial artist of the city, a "Kids' Picnic," and most important of all, the spring dance.

More power to this peppy club in the future.

Latin Club

The Latin Club, a mixed group, is composed of students who have been enrolled in Latin classes. The officers are Betty Borthwick, consul; Barbara Brightman, pro-consul; Elizabeth Mickelson, scribe; Ray Deaton, quaestor; Charles Merryman, janitor. Miss Winifred Cummings is the sponsor.

The Latin Club is more a social than an academic organization, but most of its activities pertain to the Romans and their language. Each year there are games, plays, debates, and parties at which other language clubs are often entertained. An annual banquet is usually held, at which Roman customs are observed.

Spanish Club

The Spanish Club is made up of students who are taking or have taken Spanish. Although the meetings are not entirely in Spanish, each program has some South American influence.

The club has a membership of forty-five students. The officers are Colleen Haley, president; Gloria Spillers, vice-president; Doris Tokheim, secretary; and Dorothy Nittler, treasurer. Senorita Frances Brewer is the sponsor.

Playing games and singing songs in Spanish are favorite activities of this club. At one of the meetings a play about South America was given to celebrate Pan American Day.

Zetagethean Club

Zetagathea Club was originally organized as a literary club but during the past year it has changed to a general interest group.

The club is fortunate in having Mrs. N. M. Hansen as its advisor. The officers are Mary Hansen, president; Doris Tokheim, vice-president; Betty Borthwick, secretary; and Elizabeth Mickelson, treasurer.

The most outstanding meeting of the semester was a birthday party at which the members sat at tables designed as the month in which they were born. At other meetings, talks were given by many prominent citizens of Des Moines.

Sub Deb Club

The Sub Deb Club here at East High is a part of the national organization of Sub Deb Clubs. The purpose of this club is to aid the girls in developing their personalities.

They have an active membership of thirty-five girls this semester. The officers are Shirlee Green, president; Gloria Spillers, vice-president; Milli Hines, secretary; and Ruth Weeks, treasurer. The girls have no sponsor.

The activities that have been planned include many parties and group discussions of interest to girls. The annual picnic is scheduled for the last meeting.

SCIENCE CLUB

Science Club

The Science Club is an old and respected institution at East High, and has done much towards promoting pupils' interest in science. The old club, under the interested sponsorship of Mr. Godfrey Siverson, belonged to a national association of science clubs and was quite prominent in certain activities of the school. The club, after having been inactive for sometime, was revived recently by Mr. Walter Barnard, the present sponsor.

The physics laboratory is the meeting place of the present science club, which is a mixed group, although a large body of the membership is masculine. The officers are Jim Gousseff, president; Dick Caplan, vice-president; and Laura Stieglitz, secretary.

The year's work of the club has been devoted entirely to study in chemistry and physics. Last semester, the officers of the present club extracted manganese metal from manganese dioxide, and elementary silicon from silicon dioxide (sand). In both cases, the procedure was lengthy, tedious, and rather complicated, but the knowledge obtained, and techniques developed were deemed fit rewards for energies exerted.

This semester the considerably enlarged club has been occupied mainly in radio work. Mr. Barnard has given much instruction in the principles of radio and in the construction and use of radio instruments. Earlier this semester, in the absence of Mr. Barnard, Dr. Helmick of Drake University lectured the club on the construction of radio sets.

Chess and Checkers

The oldest boys' club in the school is that of Chess and Checkers, an illustrious group of gentlemen meeting every fortnight in Mr. Seevers' room. Their officers are Rex Mathis, president; Harry Myklebust, vice-president; Richard Shropshire, secretary; and Donald Brandt, treasurer.

Mr. J. A. Seevers, the present sponsor, also has the significant honor of being the club's founder. Ten years ago, a group of several boys having an intellectual passion for chess and checkers, banded together under the direction of Mr. Seevers for the purpose of pursuing their favorite avocation. Later, the group formed a club with Mr. Seevers and Mr. Stephen Bakalyar as co-sponsors. According to Mr. Seevers, the club now has the largest membership in its history.

The activities of these young men seem to us to consist mainly of playing chess and checkers and taking on nourishment. The ancient and venerated game of chess, as Mr. Seevers puts it, "requires brains" since it is dependent upon mental agility rather than upon chance.

Besides playing single games, the boys enter into lengthy tournaments in which the players are eliminated until one emerges victorious. Hence, it is not uncommon to see several pairs of boys around school bending in intense silence over their boards and gravely making moves once in a while.

Philomatheans

The Philomatheans are the oldest girls' group in East High, and for several periods in twenty-five years have held a high standing among our clubs. The club was originally a literary society, having rigid entrance requirements, and members of high scholarship. The Philos read and discussed certain books and poems, and usually had elaborate and formal social functions. But several years ago, the literary interest had ebbed so that the club was reorganized as a general interest group.

These young ladies now meet in Room 119 and have no sponsor. This semester's officers are: president, Geraldine Harrison; vice-president, Marion Rasmussen; secretary, Gloria Munson; and treasurer, Marjory Bauserman.

The schedule of activities of the reorganized club is quite varied and is planned by the officers. The semester's program usually contains parties, games, and sometimes lectures. For instance, this semester the club had a picnic, outdoor games, and a play. The Philos sometimes hold a joint meeting with another club having similar interests if a speaker is available, and subjects of a personal nature are discussed.

The Philomatheans have sponsored an exclusive and prominent post-graduate club, the Alpha Phi Alphas. This sisterhood annually held an elaborate birthday banquet with the school club. The sisterhood membership is elected from the seniors of the Philo club.

Quill Art Staff

Since the general design and attractiveness of any publication has a considerable influence upon its popularity, much credit should be given to the artists who did the art work on the Quill. The cover and the introductory and division pages were produced by this staff, which was directed by Miss Harriet Macy. These Quill art students did their work in class and received regular credit for it.

The work of these students involved much artistic thinking and detailed sketching. First, the "theme" or general continuity of design was decided upon. Then, many tentative sketches were made from which the ones most appropriate were selected. These drawings were revised, enlarged, drawn to scale in pencil, and then reproduced in ink. The final products were then sent to the engravers to be photographed and transferred to plates.

Through all the Art Staff's pages run the theme "Doorways of Opportunity." Two views of the school's front entrance, and aspects of several other doorways represent service and vocational opportunities open through education. The introductory pages, two to six, were designed by Marilyn Woods, Lorraine Conklin, Marjorie Selindh, Henry Wilcotts, and Arthur Gustafson, respectively. The division pages are the work of the following: Senior section, Grace Ellen Marshall; Organizations section, Leona McNeley; and Sports, Gerald Barnes and Ralph Rook. Jo Ann Stanton designed the cover.

Crafts Clubs

The Crafts Club this year has been smaller than in previous years because most of the pupils interested in skilled crafts are busy working in jobs to further the war effort. However the Crafts Club and members of the crafts classes still obtain the adept guidance and helpful experience of Mrs. Clement.

Craftsmen require sure, steady nerves and a large amount of patience so that their work will be perfect. Not only do crafts students learn good design, but also how to work with many different tools and materials.

Starting with a comparatively easy problem in working with wood and progressing up to the more delicate skill required in metal work is the procedure used in the crafts classes. In this way, the students gain confidence in their skill and at the same time they are learning different phases of craft work.

Craftsmanship is a useful tool to every citizen of the community, as a hobby or as an inexpensive, resourceful way of making the home more beautiful. Crafts as a business is gaining steadily in importance also.

Brush and Palette

The purpose of the Brush and Palette Club, says the sponsor, Miss Harriet Macy, is "to develop in its members a greater appreciation of artistic things." With this end in consideration Miss Macy founded this club in January, 1925. As a rather small and flexible group, the members of the Brush and Palette have an opportunity to carry out their mutual art projects with greater freedom than would be found possible in a regular art class.

The club's officers this semester are as follows: president, Phyllis Twitchell; vice-president, Beverly SyKora; and secretary, Tom Wheatly. This club meets in the art department on the third floor.

The activities of this group are quite general in the field of art. For example, some members have been occupied in working with clays, others in carving wood. Some have been tinting photographs, and one has been engaged in cartoons. The club often takes field trips, for instance, to the art exhibits at the main library, and to the Art center at Drake University.

Fellowship Clubs

One of the most respected and most active clubs at East High is undoubtedly that of Christian Fellowship. About four years ago, these groups were formed from students who, not wishing to attend the noon movies, desired rather, to devote their leisure time to activities of a more serious nature. The chief promoters of the Fellowship Club idea were Bill Houser, then a student at East, and the Reverend Mr. Ed. Nelson, who championed these clubs through the School Board.

The two Fellowship clubs meet for about twenty minutes daily, one during the first lunch hour, and the other during the second. The officers of the first lunch group, which meets in Room 121, are as follows: Jack Peters, president; Wayne Easter, vice-president; and Martha Anderson, secretary. The officers of the second lunch club, which also meet in Room 121, are Jerry Bishop, president; Bob Mohr, vice-president; and Roberta Jones, secretary.

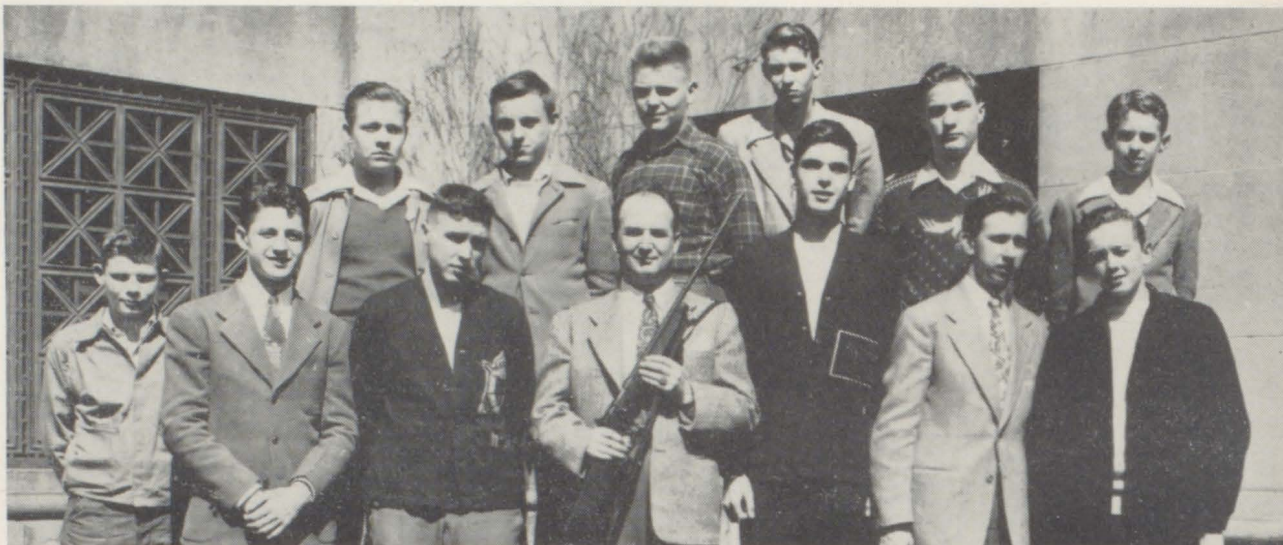

In respect to their activities, these two clubs are very similar. The usual meeting procedure is as follows. The service is opened with the singing of the theme hymn, "Since Jesus Came Into My Heart," and a prayer is given by one of the members. Several choruses are then sung, and the first part of the meeting is concluded with the singing of a musical setting of John 3:16. The leader then delivers a prayer, reads the scripture lesson, and begins his talk. This message is based on the scripture read, and applies Biblical truths to every day life. The meeting is then closed with a hymn and prayer.

The leader, the member who conducts the meetings for the week, is chosen by the officers. Often there are special speakers—adults, or students from other schools.

And neither are these activities restricted to the school. Every other Friday evening, the Fellowship clubs from all the junior and senior high schools of the city congregate at the Y. M. C. A. Games are played, hymns sung, and special music is presented. Afterwards, special talks and refreshments are enjoyed.

Indeed, these organizations are a great credit to the high standing of our school.

Rifle Club

Members of the Rifle Club are finding their training especially valuable in these times because of the experience they gain before entering the armed services. Officers are Dick Stanwood, Jim Richards, Emil Arbtin, and Bill Gnade.

The organization is affiliated with the national association, and, in their practice sessions, the boys learn how to handle various sorts of rifles. The members are continually striving to improve their marksmanship and qualify for the various medals available.

Ushers

Home Room 104, ably guided by Mr. D. O. Wilson, renders valuable service to East High each semester by its efficient ushering at school assemblies and programs. A great deal of credit is due these students who cheerfully find seats for East High pupils and guests of the school. Special recognition should be given, too, because they usually have only a very few minutes in which to find a seat for everyone.

Congratulations to this home room for its fine service and the hearty thanks of everybody at East High!

Clerical Staff

Truly noteworthy are the services rendered by the several dozens of girls who work on the office staff of our school. There is a different staff for every period, and the girls give up their study time to work in the offices of Mr. Prichard, Mr. Williams, Miss Helmreich, Mrs. Clark, and Miss Hammer.

The members of these staffs are appointed by Miss Zimmerli, and most are enrolled in commercial classes. These students, while serving their school, also gain valuable experience in applying their typing, and other office techniques. The girls' duties consist mainly of running errands; circulating special bulletins; typing; taking dictation; and in general, keeping the offices under control.

Library Staff

The library assistants are chosen by Miss Carrie Larson, school librarian, to help her with her work. These assistants are always at hand to aid students in finding material. Among their other duties are checking out books, seeing that books are returned when due, keeping the room in order, shelving books, and checking shelves to see that the books are in their proper places.

The boys in the bookroom who check out text books to classrooms are also members of the staff.

Hall Monitors

The hall monitors are the largest, and one of the most important service bodies in East High. These students are charged with both the honor and the responsibility of serving their school. For in his official capacity, the monitor is a representative of East High, and his conduct and execution of duty should be such as to deserve the respect of fellow students and outsiders alike.

In order to become a monitor, the student must apply to, and be accepted by, the teacher responsible for a certain post. The main requirements for holding a monitorship are good citizenship, scholarship, and enrollment in physical education classes.

In general, the hall monitor's duties consist of controlling traffic and maintaining order in the halls. The monitor allows to pass his post only those who wear office badges, or bear passes or visitors' cards. The monitor usually studies on duty, since he had surrendered his study period to fill his position.

Therefore, it is the responsibility of all students, by conforming their conduct to the rules, to help the monitors in discharging their duties. No one should cause disturbance by loitering around monitor posts, nor should he attempt to pass through the halls without proper credentials.

For Services Rendered

We express our appreciation to the Movie Staff who make our lunch hours more pleasant by operating the movie projector, taking tickets, and acting as monitors. Under the direction of Mr. Walter Stephens, these pupils are on hand daily to see that the noon movies afford an agreeable time to everyone.

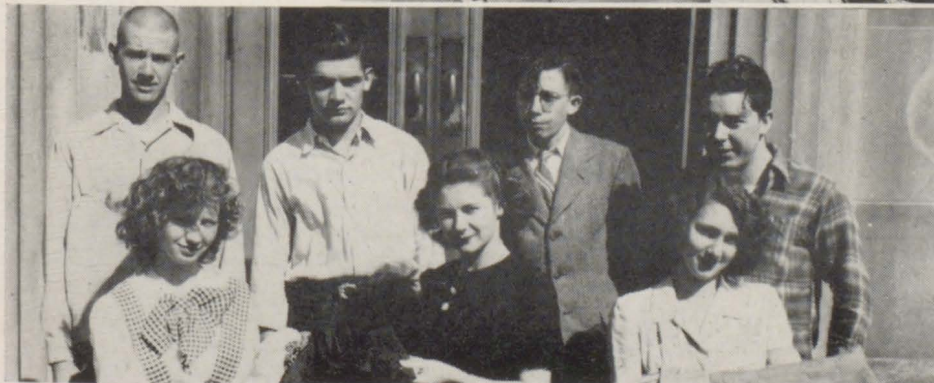

Our thanks go to the Candy Girls, who voluntarily sacrifice part of their lunch periods in order to appease the "sweet tooth" of many of our students by selling candy in the lunch room and the front corridor. These girls dispense their wares with cheery smiles and the spirit of service, and they deserve a sincere thanks from the student body.

Patriotism, as well as service, is the guiding spirit of the War Stamp Girls who do their bit for the war effort by promoting sales in the school, thereby helping us to keep our Minute Man flag flying every month. They sell stamps before school and during both lunch periods in the front hall.

A hearty handclap goes to our Stage Hands, Electricians, and Wardrobe Girls, who are the indispensable people behind every stage production, program, or assembly given in our auditorium. Though seldom given much credit, these pupils put a lot of time and work in their efforts to make our programs run efficiently. Mr. A. G. Hostetter helps these boys solve the problems that rise in their work.

Custodians

Clean halls and class rooms in which to work contribute greatly to the healthy atmosphere of East High and are maintained daily by our faithful custodians.

These men see to the upkeep of the main building, gym, annex, and the grounds, taking great care to see that they are not only neat and clean, but safe also, as all safety rules are carefully adhered to.

Other duties of the custodians are seeing that heat or fresh air is supplied to class rooms, raising and lowering the flag, making minor repairs on school equipment, and keeping supplies on hand ready for use. They also repair much-abused combination locks and the lockers.

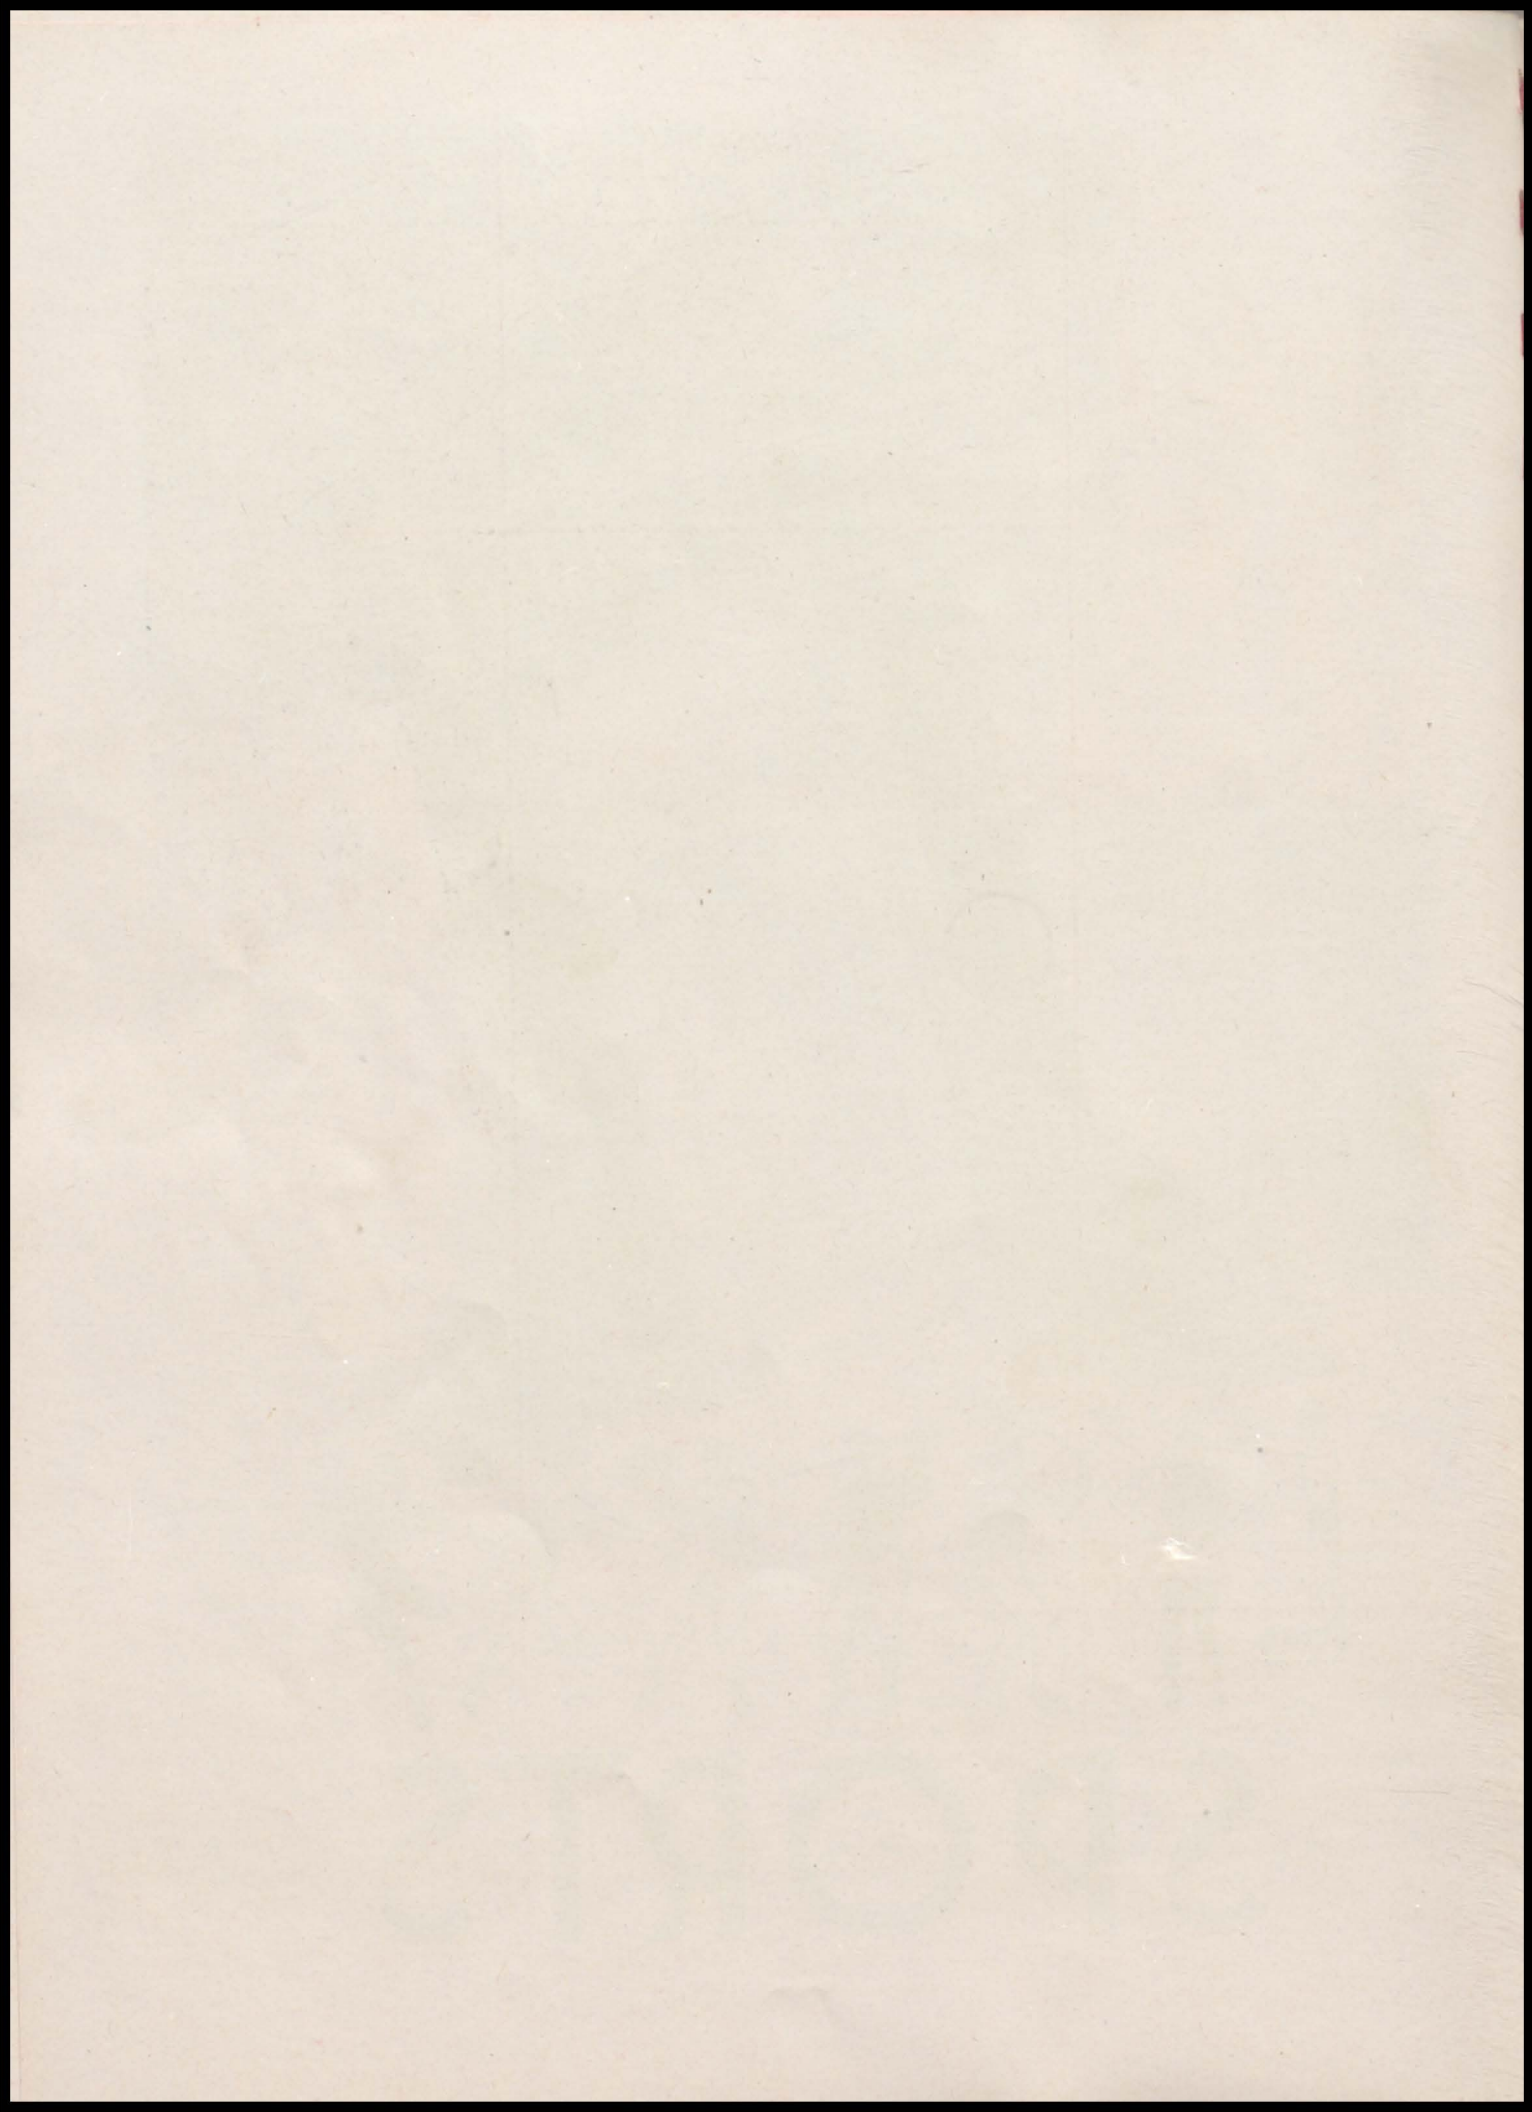

Cafeteria Ladies

At an hour when the greater part of the student body here at East High is still in bed or maybe just getting up, the ladies in the cafeteria are arriving to start another day's work. No later than seven o'clock every school day morning, they are busy planning and preparing lunches for us.

Mrs. Maude Wiggenjost is the supervisor. Among her many duties are planning the lunches and ordering the food. With food so hard to get and with an ever-increasing number of foods on the ration list, a much greater strain has been put on her; but she and her capable assistants are to be commended for the fine method in which they manage our cafeteria.

Track Team

The spring training is on for East High School's track team. The boys start training in early spring in order to be in good physical condition when the first meet is held. Track is one sport in which the boys must always be in top form.

For about 15 years East High has had many outstanding teams. Many trophies have been won for the school as well as medals by the individual boys. There are ten letter men on the team this year, and with other good material and excellent coaches, East has every reason to expect another championship team this year.

Charles Gregory is assistant coach this year and is exceptionally capable and well liked by the boys. Mike Augustine, the builder of the wonderful East High teams, is the coach who is now just completing 19 years with East. East High's reign as the team to beat has not yet run its course.

East High, the city and state track champion, has arranged a heavy schedule this spring—the first outdoor meet will be the Valley High relays at West Des Moines, April 14. East will also compete in the Oskaloosa relays, the Drake relays, the Grinnell invitation meet, the district affair, the Big Seven conference classic, the state meet and the city outdoor meet.

Now that spring has come, it is a common sight to see the East High sprinters running up and down the hills in Union Park or the Capitol grounds. It is this sort of training which gets the boys in the splendid condition for their meets. And it is not always ideal weather when the boys are doing their outdoor sprinting. So the boys are really in excellent physical condition. Good luck to all the East High runners.

Our basketball team attained a high degree of perfection this year when it brought home a share of the city championship. A superior team is not made overnight. The boys start in the late fall and work hard all season to perfect their play.

The hopes of East High were lowered considerably by mid-semester graduation, but the team came through in great style. Graduating in January were Harold Sandin and Marvin Williams, two of the five regulars. This placed an added load on the shoulders of the remainder of the regulars and the reserves who filled the places of the graduates, but one which they carried very well.

Besides their superb play in the city meet, the team won its way to the semi-finals of the district meet before dropping a tough game to North.

Coached by "Mike" Augustine, our boys put in long hours of practice every night in the gym. Teamwork is essential to a good team, and East's team developed into an efficient, fast-moving unit which deserves a lot of praise. This year, our team contained many natural athletes, several of whom will return for further competition next fall.

First class competition was at hand this season and East High played some of the stiffest opposition in the state. Further honors were gained when Marty Carlson and Ralph Rook were named on the first and second all-city teams, respectively. Marty will be one of those who will be back next year.

All of our credit and support should be given to Coach Augustine and to the team for the grand season they have turned in. Nice work, team, you have made us very proud of you.

Working in the limelight reflected from the first team, the second squad propose themselves today for the first team of tomorrow. East High School's second team this year shows great promise of future championships. It is only logical that it would take an exceptionally good basketball team to play all opponents and end the season with only two defeats. Our second squad this year not only won fourteen games while losing only two, but they won their city championship in addition.

Coached by "Mike" Augustine, the squad worked long, hard hours after school to perfect their shots, their floor tactics and their teamwork. A smooth, swift-moving team, the squad makes us feel sure that when next season rolls around, East High School will still be in top basketball circles. Good coaching, loyal support by the student body and by friends of the school, and hard practice by everyone on the team have netted a very successful season. A team cannot win many games without all three. Nice work, team, we expect to hear of a brilliant season again next year.

The boys on the wrestling team begin training immediately after the football season closes. In order to get in good physical condition for this bone-cracking, muscle-pulling sport, the boys run at least one or two miles each night. They also do calisthenics, learn fundamental holds, and engage in intra-mural wrestling. Those who win the inter-squad matches are qualified to engage in the regular scheduled matches against teams in other schools. The boys watch their diet closely, cutting out fats and sweets.

The new boys coming out for the team usually take about half of the season to learn the holds. When they have mastered this part of their work, they are then usually ready to try for positions on the team.

"Some of the things which wrestling develops are balance, quick thinking, co-ordination, and the art of self-defense. These "rugged" individuals are equal to the exacting rules of the art of wrestling, and East High School always has an excellent team. They are very frequently city champions and always are a credit to their school.

Wrestling is a sport which deals with the leverage and weight advantages of one body against another. The point system for wrestling varies from football and basketball because it depends on the individual wrestler's ability. The team worked hard all year and has shown great improvement. Mr. Charles Gregory is the coach.

Swimming Team

Swimming is one of the most enjoyable and invigorating of all sports. It teaches the art of coordination between mind and body. Swimming requires excellent physical condition, good reflexes, and is one of the cleanest and most wholesome of sports.

As everyone knows, East High is the only senior high school in the city which does not have a standard swimming pool. The "big tub" is too narrow and 15 ft. too short, and diving is just a dream unless one cares to have his head cracked by the very low ceiling. This is too big a handicap to be hurdled even by good swimmers and an excellent coach. Realizing these deficiencies, "Scotty" and his boys deserve a special tribute. They have little following or glamor, but go about their work and receive as their compensation the fun of swimming. These sleek paddlers of East have a grand spirit, and it is their earnest hope that soon the plans for adequate swimming facilities may be realized.

Coach A. Y. (Scotty) Russell

Those on the team this year and the strokes they swam are: Bill Stouffer, Harry Graves, Nymer Christiansen, Jim Sweeney and Jack Judkins, crawlstroke; Bob Tallman and Ed Martin, breaststroke; Harry Dahl, diving and backstroke; Rex Mathis, Bruce Humphrey, Paul Larson and Dick Stanwood, backstroke and crawlstroke. All the boys have swimming monograms.

We cannot close this brief story of the swimming team without saying a little about the coach, A. Y. "Scotty" Russell. "Scotty" is nationally known in swimming circles. He is very capable and is an inspiration to his boys. "Scotty" says his team is tops, and given adequate facilities equal to others, East would have a team second to none.

Golf

Golf is a game in which the individual must work alone and depend entirely on his own skill. The boys start practice early in spring, getting in shape by long hard hours in training. They practice their stance, form, swing, and timing. The boys have to do a lot of cross-country walking and hill climbing.

Coach A. G. Hostetter, who has the admiration of all the boys on his team, has trained the team capably and well for the stiff competition ahead of them.

The boys enjoy this healthful sport which builds body and creates a competitive spirit. We expect a good accounting, boys, and we know you won't let East High down.

Tennis

Some may think no training is necessary for tennis. However, quite the opposite is true. The game is very vigorous and takes a well-conditioned boy, very keen eyesight, and an exceptionally good sense of timing.

East High has had more than its share of honors, and always has a team of which the school may well be proud.

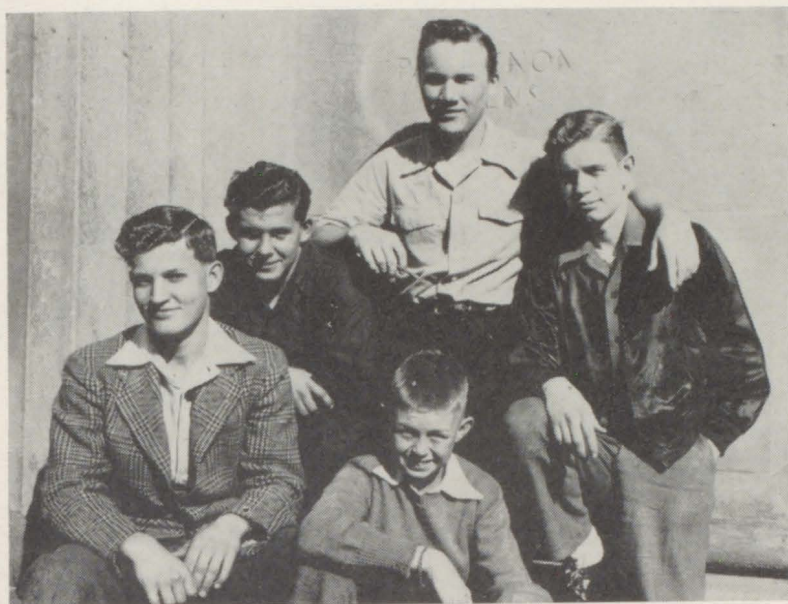

For the past several years, the Birdland tennis courts have been kept open and in condition for the championship games to be played on. All of the Des Moines high schools compete in this event.

Tennis is an interesting game to watch, and the players deserve our loyal support. Mr. Raymond J. Gewerth is the able coach.

Equipment Managers

They hand out the soap and towels long after the students have gone home. The "Cage Monkey," or equipment manager, works long and hard to see that East High's athletic teams are equipped and well taken care of.

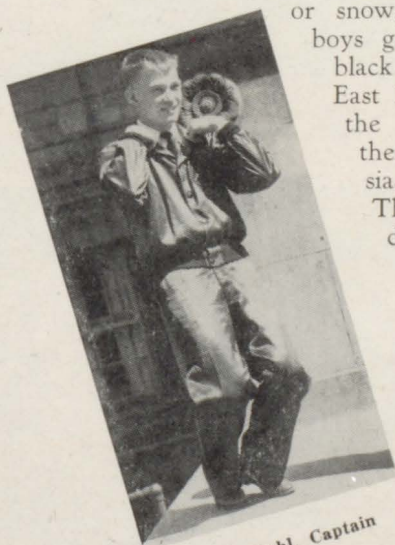

Each boy is required to serve for three years, on completion of which he is presented with a three-ring monogram.

Dressed up in old clothes, these boys spend two or three hours nightly in the locker rooms looking after the needs of our athletes.

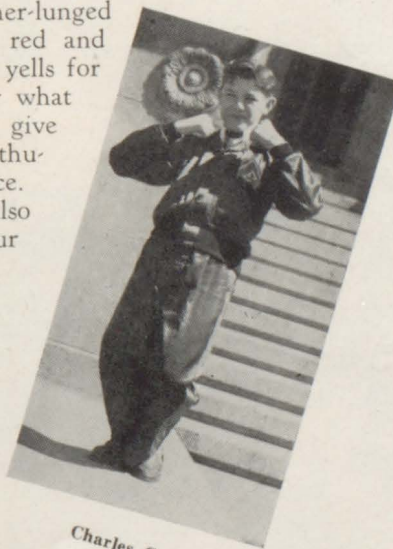

Under the direction of Mr. Glen Whitlock, physical education instructor, these boys have a long, hard job, but they are always there with a helping hand. Hats off to the boys behind our teams.

Cheer Leaders

Regardless of weather, rain, shine, sleet, or snow, out these leather-lunged boys go in their classy red and black attire to lead the yells for East High. No matter what the score, these boys give their all to inspire enthusiasm and confidence. The cheer leaders also do a fine job in our pep assemblies. Truly, they deserve three big cheers and many thanks for their fine work.

Girls' Tennis

This enthusiastic group got off to a fine start with the return of two letter-winners. This forms the nucleus of the team, which when added to the other players back from last year's squad and the beginners who are just entering team play, forms the material for a high-ranking squad.

Besides diligent preparation, for considerable inter-scholastic competition, the girls have intra-squad competition. Under the guidance of Miss Helen Spencer, we expect to see an enviable record made during the coming season.

Girls' Golf

"All work and no play makes Jill a dull girl." A fine opportunity for relaxation and enjoyment is afforded by golf. A pastime which is often called "the royal game," it has stood the test of centuries, and undoubtedly will continue to live on indefinitely.

An enthusiastic group of girls, coached by Mr. A. G. Hostetter, look forward to a highly successful season on the fairways during the coming months. Golf is a game which does not end its potential usefulness as a pleasant form of diversion as a person grows older.

Swimming—basketball—softball—tennis—tumbling—golf—these are sports sometimes thought of as being for those with special ability or money for equipment. But at East, each girl has a chance to participate in her favorite sport and try new ones which she thinks she may like by joining the Girls' Athletic Association.

In addition to games and sports which may be enjoyed here at East under the supervision of Miss Helen Spencer or a student referee or umpire, there are activities outside of school such as skating (either ice or roller), riding, hiking, and bicycling.

By reporting her activities to Miss Spencer, a girl may earn enough points for her athletic monogram, which is awarded at the senior assembly held at the end of every semester.

Physical Education

Mr. G. A. Whitlock

Down through the years mankind has found the value of physical training very important. It helps to develop the traits of character which are of immense personal value to us in later life. Beside this, it aids in forming the habit of indulging in the proper exercise and activity after you leave school.

Now, more than ever before, we realize the far-reaching importance of an efficient system of education for physical fitness. We must be ever-vigilant, lest we tend to think of school only in terms of mental development. However vital this may be, the physical training program is an essential supplement.

Des Moines schools, as a whole, are well equipped to present a smoothly-working system. All the high schools of this city are fortunate in that each has a swimming pool; however, the pool at East High is inferior in size to those of other Des Moines high schools.

In East High School, the management of the physical fitness program is handled very capably by Mr. Glen Whitlock, and Miss Helen Spencer, the gymnasium directors, and Mr. A. Y. (Scotty) Russell, the swimming instructor.

Under state law, every student attending high school must allow a certain specified time per week for the purpose of physical education. This time is spent pursuing such activities as basketball, softball, calisthenics, wrestling, and various other beneficial games and exercises. This is certainly time well used.
